Reflection

Prototype evaluation
Reflection

• Reflection refers to thinking about personal experiences and trying to understand one's own actions

• This time, we present the prototypes to the rest of the group, collect feedback and try to find suggestions for improvements
Prototype presentations

Plan short presentations of your prototypes.

Describe at least:
• What features does the prototype include?
• What does it do and how?
• How does it help the one being bullied?

Each group presents their prototype in front of the class.
Evaluation of prototypes

Place the prototypes around the class.

Write feedback on each prototype on the post-it notes:
• What is good/positive about the idea?
• How could the idea be developed further?

Finally, review all feedback together with your group. Should some changes be made to the prototype based on the feedback?